DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sellers et al (US 2001/0044773 A1).

As per claim 1, Sellers et al discloses a system for managing and reporting mortgage delinquency information, comprising:

a delinquency information database for receiving, storing and maintaining mortgage delinquency information entries, each mortgage delinquency information entry comprising information identifying and providing relevant details about a delinquent mortgage, (see [0025, 0036, 0038 and 0042] via e-Loss Mitigation Optimizer-"e-LMO" and Borrower Assistance Program (BAP));

a delinquency information manager (See [0055] via task manager software package works as a program mentioned in specification) operative to retrieve delinquency information entries from the delinquency information database, the delinquency manager being accessible to a user computer through a publicly accessible network, the delinquency information manager presenting one of a number of a selectable interfaces upon selection by the user to allow the user to transmit delinquency information from the user computer through the publicly accessible network, the selection of interfaces including a form for creation and transmission of new delinquency information entries, a form (see [0031] via using forms and functions – template based application) for modification of previously submitted delinquency information entries and an interface for identification and uploading of a file containing delinquency information, the delinquency information database in the form of delinquency information entries after the delinquency information is received from the user computer( see[ 0025, 0028, and 0031-0035] via “e-LMO” Fast Track system with template-based application form, entry of delinquency information as workout into the number of data entry boxes for receiving inputs from the user of the system).

As per claim 2, Sellers et al discloses a mortgage administration server and wherein the delinquency information manager is operative to transmit delinquency information server to the mortgage administration server upon a command by the user to the delinquency information manager to transmit the delinquency information, (see [0027 and 0028] via e-LMO loan-servicer enters delinquency inputs through personal computer into the system for the web server computer of the system main frame).

As per claim 3, Sellers et al discloses the delinquency information manager transmits the delinquency information to the mortgage administration server by retrieving designated delinquency information entries from the delinquency information database and transmitting them to the mortgage administration server, (see [0028] via e-Fast Track system of delinquency information to the web-server of main frame system).

As per claim 4, Sellers et al discloses the mortgage administration server hosts a mortgage administration manager operative to receive and process delinquency information entries from the delinquency information manager, (see [0027-0029 and 0052] via e-LMO system in Real Estate Owned (REO) mainframe).

As per claim 5, Sellers et al discloses a mortgage information database for storing delinquency information entries received by the mortgage administration manager, (see [0036] via e-MLO system and REO mainframe).

As per claim 6, Sellers et al discloses each delinquency entry and each mortgage information entry identifies a servicer who is servicing a mortgage identified by the entry, (see [0032] via user ID and password).

As per claim 7, Sellers et al discloses the delinquency information manager allows access to delinquency information entries only to authorized users associated with servicers identified in the entries, (see [0032] via user ID and password).

As per claim 8, Sellers et al discloses one or more of the interfaces presented to the user by the delinquency information manager are hypertext pages, (see [0032]);

As per claim 9, Sellers et al discloses one interface available to a user comprises a list of entry descriptions, each entry description identifying a delinquency information entry previously stored by the user and wherein each entry description includes a hypertext link, (see [0031-0032 and 0051]).

As per claim 10, Sellers et al discloses the forms for creation and modification of delinquency information are hypertext pages including fields and commands for entry and modification of the information and commands for storing of the information, (see [0031-0034]);

As per claim 11, Sellers et al discloses the publicly accessible network is the Internet, (see [0030].

As per claim 12, Sellers et al discloses the delinquency information manager is operative to periodically compare delinquency information entries in the delinquency information database to corresponding mortgage information entries in the mortgage information database to determine if the corresponding entries mortgage information entries are more current than the delinquency information entries and, if so, to update the delinquency information entries to reflect more current information in the mortgage information entries(see[0029] via additional information to the central server computer).

As per claim 13, Sellers et al discloses, a method of mortgage delinquency management, comprising the steps of:

establishing an account identifying a mortgage servicing entry, (see [0025 and 0032] via e-Fast track system);

establishing a connection with a user computer through a publicly accessible network, (see [0030] via personal computer and internet connection);

upon presentation of authentication information associated with the account, allowing access by the user computer to an electronic data storage area and allowing retrieval from the electronic data storage area of new or updated entries identified with the account, (see [0031 and 0032] via access to central database after authentication with ID and password);

upon commands and selections received from a user through the user computer, presenting one or more interfaces to the user to allow creation, review, modification and storage of delinquency information entries, each delinquency information entry including delinquency information identifying and providing relevant details about a mortgage associated with the servicing entity, at least one interface allowing identification and upload of a file from the user computer, (see [0032 – 0034] via access to web-browser by service delinquency reporting to mainframe);

upon receiving one or more delinquency information entries from the user computer and receiving a command to store the delinquency information entries, storing the delinquency information entries in the electronic data storage area, (see [0008, and 0029] via data entry boxes storing delinquency informations).

As per claim 14, Sellers et al discloses the electronic data storage area is a delinquency information database hosted on a delinquency information server, (see [0008, 0052 and 0070] via REO mainframe loan database).

As per claim 15, Sellers et al discloses a steps of transferring information in the delinquency information entries from the delinquency information database to a mortgage information database from which the information contained in the delinquency information entries is accessible to users associated with a mortgage insurance provider, (see [0036] via loan servicer to mortgage insurance provider for particular loan).

As per claim 16, Sellers et al discloses a step of updating the information in the mortgage information database in response to commands and data received from users associated with the mortgage insurance provider (see [0036] via servicer to insurance provider).

As per claim 17, Sellers et al discloses a step of periodically comparing the information in the mortgage information database against equivalent information in the delinquency information database and updating the information in the delinquency information database with more current information from the mortgage information database, (see [0036 and 0042] via loan servicer with BAP).

As per claim 18, Sellers et al discloses the interfaces are hypertext pages, (see [0034 and 0051]).

As per claim 19, Sellers et al discloses the step of presenting interfaces to the user includes presenting a list of entry descriptions, each entry description identifying a delinquency information entry previously stored by the user and wherein each entry description includes a hypertext link which can be activated by the user and wherein the delinquency information manager displays details of the entry identified by the entry description upon activation of the hypertext link, (see [0032-0034 and 0051] via a screenshot of a login screen appears when the website is accessed by ID and password and then using e-Fast Track system and URL).

Conclusion
